Quit Laxatives,
Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, cathartics, oil purges and cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constipation difficult to cure.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough clearing out.

This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best.

Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Loss of Appetite

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it. Adv.

DESERVED A BETTER FATE

Frenchman Who Invented Cold Storage Is Declared to Have Literally Starved to Death.

Charles Tellier, who invented cold storage, starved to death in France. The inventor was a modest, shrinking little man, who never learned to distrust mankind. He gave his whole life to study and then he was robbed of the fruits of his labor by men to whom he appealed for aid. Not having sufficient funds to market his scheme for preserving foods by his invention, he begged moneyed men to try out his scheme. They finally stole the idea.

Few people in Chicago, where his idea made the packers rich, knew the man. England, which was saved from starvation during the recent war by his invention, hardly heard of him. France forgot him until a few years ago, when somebody discovered that the anniversary of the first shipment of cold storage meat into France was near. Then Tellier was sent for, and he was decorated with the legion of honor before the senate and the chamber of deputies and the president and premier of France did him honor. He was sent home with a guard of honor, and again forgotten. Few knew that he was even then almost without funds, and that he often went without food. His poverty was discovered after his death from starvation.

AVOIDING CONVERSATION

"Somebody stole my liver," wailed Mr. Chiggins.

"Why don't you tell the detectives?"

"I'm not merely looking for sympathy. I'm looking for the liver."

MOROS TAKE UP HOMESTEADS.

Not only the non-Christian people of Davao who have their residences near the new townships but also those living in the mountain fastnesses of the wild regions of that locality are learning rapidly the importance of obtaining land from the government by homestead, is the information received from the forestry bureau employees from Moroland. This condition is partly explained as due to the fact that the non-Christians are beginning to realize that the invading hosts of Christian Filipinos, as well as the pioneer Japanese and American settlers will soon get possession of the good land in Davao and that they, the Moros, will soon have no place for themselves.—Manila Times.

RIVALS.

"My dear," said the wife of the eminent professor, "the hens have scratched up all that eggplant seed you sowed."

"Ah, jealousy!" mused the professor—and he immediately began an article on the "Evidence of Envy in the Lower Grade of Bipeds."—Boston Transcript.

NATURE FAKING.

Dorothy had recently moved into a large house from an apartment building, and the new shrubbery and flowers were quite a novelty to her. Sunday she ran in from her play and excitedly called, "Oh, daddy, four of our tulips are hatched!"

KNOWS HOW IT IS.

"I see where Korea wants self determination," remarked Mr. Peckton.

"Well," said Mrs. Peckton, "what do you know about Korea?"

"Nothing, my dear, nothing. I merely have a sort of fellow feeling, that's all."

ALL GOOD WISHES.

"I see that our landlord is going away for the summer."

"That's good. I hope he'll leave all his business cares behind him and forget all about raising our rent any more."

RICHES LAY LONG IN ROAD

Satchel Containing Small Fortune Overlooked by Many Who Traveled Along Pennsylvania Highway.

Owen K. Schultz, accompanied by his son, Chester, while traveling between their home at Nantio, Pa., and the bank, lost an old satchel containing thousands of dollars in cash and securities which he was conveying to the institution for patrons along the line. When they alighted from their buggy to attend the directors' weekly session the satchel was missing and a searching party retraced the road but traveled in vain.

Until 6:30 o'clock in the evening the satchel was lying along the side of the main highway between Bechtelsville and Boyertown. Then Dr. M. B. Oberholzer of Boyertown, who was returning from a call, noticed it and brought it to his office, where it again laid for three hours more until he overheard a conversation about a loss. This caused him to investigate and he found he had thrown nearly $2,000 in currency and several times more than that amount in checks and other securities loosely about his office. Officers of the bank were notified and the satchel returned.

SAVE BOTH TIME AND LABOR

Conjurors of Kitchen Ware Have Recently Put Some Useful Things on the Market.

Conservation has been urged and expounded for many a month, but one angle of its development has received little publicity. This angle includes a number of kitchen time and labor savers.

From doctors to granddads, a great protest is caused when an egg is under or overdone by so much as a hair's breadth. The hourglass of olden times has now come to us in a new form as an egg timer. The sands sift and one has only to wait the moment when the card's words read soft, medium, well done or hard boiled.

Among the curious devices saving in both material and labor is found a half-spoon. Just a half-spoon, that's all, but it looks peculiar. But the makers didn't stop with a half-spoon. These conjurers of kitchen ware went their initial effort one better, and evolved a whole set of measuring spoons; a quarter-spoon, a half-spoon, a teaspoon and a table-spoon. The explaining card reads: "Accurate, economical, convenient."

COST OF RELINING GUN.

Erosion promises to be the bête noir of the artilleryman for many years to come, for at least until that happy day arrives when somebody shall give him a powder that is long on energy and short on temperature. However, the problem has been considerably eased of late years by the practice of relining, which can now be done at a cost which is moderate when we consider that a relined gun is practically a new gun. We understand that a 14-inch gun can now be relined in three weeks' time at a cost of between $17,000 and $18,000. The adoption of all-nitrocellulose powder has also eased up the difficulty, for 210 rounds have been fired from a 14-inch gun without seriously impairing its accuracy.—Scientific American.

LEFT BEHIND.

"So you've been to France?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"And now you're back home with your comrades?"

"No, ma'am. I left my comrades over there."

"How did that happen?"

"I took over a shipload of mules, ma'am."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

THE COMING JULY.

"Poor old July," murmured Uncle Bill Bottletop.

"They've made it safe and sane."

"Yes. There's no further to go. First they took out the fireworks and now they've taken out the firewater."—Washington Star.

OH, PSHAW!

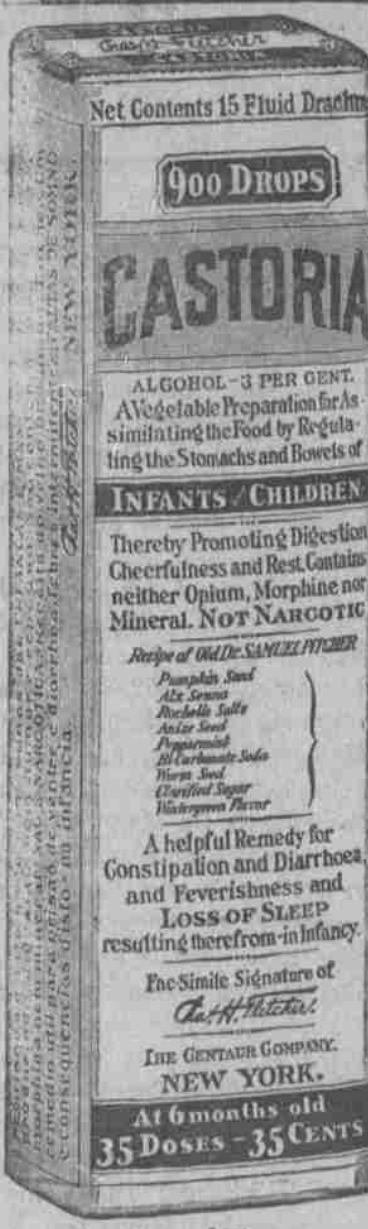

Cy—Well, I see yer boy's back. Got through the war without a scratch, eh?

Erry—Nope; he says the cooties wuz fierce.

BUSY EXPLAINER.

"Do your constituents want you to explain the league of nations?"

"All the time," answered Senator Sorghum; "I am sometimes tempted to call it the league of explanations."
